Grant Recipient: Museum of Early Trades & Crafts

The 1900 Richardson Romanesque Revival-style building was originally constructed as the Madison Public Library. It is a contributing resource in the Madison Civic Commercial Historic District on the National Register.

The 2004 grant provided for the completion of a site survey and drainage plan, replication of four original early 20th century wall sconces, and the installation of new interior lighting.

A 2011 grant will assist with completion of a Preservation Plan including structural evaluation, paint and mortar analysis, and infrared thermal imaging to address moisture infiltration.
